Why you should join the Storware Partner Program

5 reasons to become our partner

Why join the Storware Partner Program?

Project protection via deal registration

Deal registration gives partners safety by providing special prices on specified terms and protection for successfully closing deals. Moreover, it increases pipeline visibility, empowering sales satisfaction.

By joining the program, the partners will be confident in closing any type of deal regardless of the size and get efficient compensation on the final stage.

Accumulative Discount System

The partners can increase their rebate level up to 35% and more, harvesting all discount opportunities like building blocks. To provide broader price options, Storware takes into account deal information and common market activities. The capabilities of it are not limited and Storware is always ready to discuss the most relevant sales scenario.

Free certification and NFR License

To enhance partner's knowledge, Storware proposes to join certification process. Free of charge certification trainings allow partners to choose a suitable time with repeated sessions if necessary. From the sales perspective, certification provides understanding how the product addresses the business needs and the go-to-market with Storware. Additionally, partners get access to NFR license to experience the product workflow in action, as well as the business impact, which boosts confidence when selling, onboarding, and managing the product with the customer.

Co-marketing activities

Through joint marketing activities, Storware helps partners increase brand visibility. Storware offers an extensive list of marketing actions, that will help partners achieve better results in sales and build trust among customers. From joint case studies, through events, webinars, and online campaigns – Storware provides help, support, and initiative every step of the way.

Storware offers market development funds (MDF) as another resource to increase local awareness or lead gen programs supporting sales and marketing on the local markets. Planning together allows to consider actual requests and challenges in each region.
